WILLIMANTIC

What's Going On Tonight
 The annual meeting of the Willimantic Machine Company, Inc., will be held at the Willimantic Hotel, at 7 o'clock, P. M. The company is a corporation organized in 1908, and has since that time been one of the main arteries of travel to the city, and should be placed in repair, both for the convenience of travel and because poor roads leading into a city are poor advertisements of the city to strangers passing through, who might be attracted to Willimantic.

The aldermen authorized a special meeting of the electors to take up the matter, and the meeting will be held tonight in the town building to determine whether the citizens want this condition remedied, and will vote to appropriate a sufficient sum for the repairs. Not enough money remained from the regular appropriation to do the work, so the special meeting was called.

HELD FOR HIGHER COURT.

Young Men Face Serious Charge and Case Goes Over to Superior Court.

Robert W. Rathbun and Frank Lynch, the former 31 and the latter 16 years of age, charged with a statutory offense against a young girl, of this town, were presented before the police court Saturday morning and bound over to the next term of the superior court, after a demurrer pro forma, entered by their attorneys, William A. King and Frank E. Ross, had been overruled by Judge Shea. No evidence was presented to the court, and the matter goes over in full to the superior court.

Previous to this action Peter Lebeaux and Joseph Comtois were presented before the court, charged with intoxication, and received fines and costs amounting to $10.00 and $15.00 respectively.

Moose Held Back.

The first "bake" of the season in this city was held Sunday at the Brook's grove on West Main street, and was given by Willimantic lodge, No. 1440, Loyal Order of Moose. The bake was pronounced a success, and well attended by the members and their friends. A baseball game and sports occupied the morning, and the bake and other good things were heartily enjoyed.

WHOM THE NORTHWEST HONORS

JAMES J. HILL.

Who Might Have Been a Great Surgeon Had His Father Lived a Trifle Longer

Born in Canada, James J. Hill spent his boyhood days in New England, hoping in the future to be a physician. With the death of his father these hopes went glimmering. He left school and went to work in a country store, devoting his earnings to the support of the family. He made quick progress, saved some money and at last yielded to the call of the West, going from Maine to St. Paul. Here he found employment as a shipping clerk and began a study of the two great problems which the Northwest faced—transportation and fuel. We follow him as a steamboat agent to station agent at St. Paul, and hear him pooh-pooh when he proposes a railway from the Great Lakes to the Coast. But James Hill was not a man to be easily discouraged. He saved money and overcame obstacles through a determination to succeed and in thirteen years completed his road, which, with others, was eventually taken over the Great Northern, of which Hill is the master mind.

To secure expert shipments Hill established a line of steamships from Seattle to Asia and a fleet of freighters on the Great Lakes. To fill "empties" he developed the lumber industry in Washington and helped settlers to quickly bring the wilderness into highly cultivated farm lands. Today he is establishing a system of trolley lines, converging at Portland, which will tap the most fertile valleys of Oregon where his steam lines will take the fruit to the East. Hill makes it possible to reach the Coast from Chicago in 10 hours. He saved and invested his money carefully. Every young man has the same opportunity if he has the nerve and determination to make his mark high or low.

JEWETT CITY

Autos Collided on State Road Saturday Morning—Injured Hurried to Physician's Office—Machines Were Badly Wrecked.

A bad automobile accident occurred Saturday forenoon on the state road at a point a little east of the Round Hill farm, three miles below the town. Dr. Alfred Richards of this place, accompanied by his 3 year old daughter Janice and Herman Guillet, were bound for Norwich in his Cadillac, where he conducts a dental business in connection with his office in Jewett City. The other car, a Stevens-Duryer was en route from Ocean Beach to Boston. There were eight people in the car, Mrs. Burton to conduct her 15 year old son Fred and Alfred, her two sisters, the Misses Rose and Pauline Pilo, of New London, and Herman Alofsin of Norwich.

The car, which is owned by L. P. Alofsin of New York city, carried the Connecticut number 3315 and was driven by J. Davis, the chauffeur. A sharp curve in the road and a junk collector's team were the primary causes of the accident. The junk team was bound to Jewett City. Dr. Richards had met and passed it a few yards and was hugging the right hand edge of the road close up to the bank. The New York car, approaching at a smart clip, turned to overtake and pass the team, was also running close up to the bank on his left, the wrong side of the road, directly in front of Dr. Richards' car.

Chauffeur Davis did not see Dr. Richards' car in time to get over to the side of the road. When the crash came the doctor's little daughter was sitting in Herman Guillet's lap. He doubtless saved her by bracing against the windshield. He was cut on one hand by flying glass. Other than this, no one in the Richards' car was injured.

Three were thrown from the Alofsin car and four were more or less injured. Ulridge Desrosiers, bound for Norwich in his truck, was a quarter of a mile down the road and, hearing the crash, he returned to the scene and hurried to the office of Dr. J. H. McLaughlin in Jewett City. Here all were treated for their injuries. Herman Alofsin had a minor bruise over one eye and a cut over the forehead. Miss Helen Smith had a cut on her forehead. The Alofsin party were later taken to the office of Dr. J. H. McLaughlin. Mr. Davis is connected with the Hearst papers in New York. His family are summering at Ocean Beach.

Machines Badly Wrecked.

The machines were badly wrecked. Both wheels, the running board and mudguards on the left hand side of the New York car were smashed, the windshield was broken and there were other damages.

Dr. Richards' car lost a wheel, and its lamps and windshield were put out of business with other breakers in running gear. No responsibility for the mishap can be traced to Dr. Richards.

Swam to Aspinok Dam.

Victor Panaveo, William Bellis, John and Norman McLean and John Fette swam from Butte bridge to the Aspinok dam Sunday in two hours and fifteen minutes, a distance of four miles, without touching.
